

New M&A Publication Begun

by Robert W. Wood • San Francisco

Here at The M&A Tax Report we occasionally receive books and periodicals in the acquisition field that we think are worth reviewing or otherwise bringing to the attention of our readers. Such was the case when the first issue of The M&A Lawyer published by Glasser LegalWorks crossed our desk. The inaugural issue dated April 1997 carries an impressive 39 pages of text, and covers article topics ranging from protective measures, mini-tender offers, the removal of general partners, Justice Department news, recent laws enacted in the securities field, and even an interview slot with an M&A luminary. Glasser LegalWorks plans to release ten issues a year. Indeed, as this issue of The M&A Tax Report went to press, Glasser LegalWorks sent us the May 1997 number. At 19 pages, it contains articles on the Wells Fargo/First Interstate deal, the re-emergence of unsolicited exchange offers, Reg M, and various other topics.

The articles and the Editorial Advisory Board of this publication seem to represent a real cross-section of the top corporate counsel—both inside and outside counsel—who are shaping the major deals. This new publication is certainly not a tax publication, focusing instead on the corporate side. However, readers who are “multi-cultural”—or who have partners down the hall practicing in the corporate arena—might wish to give it a perusal. Glasser LegalWorks can be contacted at 150 Clove Road, Little Falls, NJ 07424, 800/308-1700 or legalwks@aol.com. ■
